A petition initiative is a signature drive of only voters to put a law on the ballot for voters to decide.

Proposed Law for Non-Ionizing Radiation Limits

Ballot Committee: RadLimits at LastTreeLaws.com

- Monitor cell tower radiation with one engineer per county
- Limit wireless & electrical radiation to the minimum necessary for operation
- Allow non-wireless utility meters (analog)
- Make disabling wireless easy
- Invest in public wired infrastructure for internet & phone
- Create a 2-year commission to study health impacts including small business & major unions
- Set a 2-year ban on most new cell towers & street antennas
- Hard-wire public buildings & reduce radiation in schools, college

Support Wireless & Non-Ionizing Radiation Limits

Because radiation from electricity and wireless can be dangerous, many countries set allowable exposures far below the US and limit exposures. The US FCC has ignored a 2021 court order to reexamine exposure guidelines based on current science and reported harm, because industry does not want to maintain public wired infrastructure (despite getting annual subsidies to do so).

Yet, the science shows we're all getting sick from exposures. UWA Prof. Emeritus Henry Lai reviewed about 2,500 relevant studies on non-ionizing radiation, including wireless and strong fields from electricity, published from 1990 to 2023. 70% to 91% of studies showed significant effects such as related to altered gene expression, neurology, oxidation, genes, reproduction and development.

Public wired infrastructure is needed because placing powerful cell tower antennas on street poles by homes instead is dangerous. These '5G' antennas exceed federal legal guidelines, causing heating besides existing non-thermal effects, such as disrupting the orientation and migration of birds & butterflies.
